Cherokee Family Research Center

www.cherokeeheritage.org

The Cherokee Family Research Center (CFRC) is located at the Cherokee Heritage Center, which is operated by the Cherokee National Historical Society, Inc. The primary goal of the CFRC is to promote understanding of Cherokee family history and documentation by educating the general public, and housing all resources specific to Cherokee genealogy. On staff at the CFRC, is our certified Senior Genealogist & assistant trained to provide in-depth research concerning Cherokee lineage. The collection of the Cherokee Family Research Center includes Dawes/Guion Miller applications on microfilm, numerous Census accounts, publications by Emmett Star and various other Cherokee-specific resources.

INTERNET SITES

http://www.accessgenealogy.com/native - Index of the Guion Miller applications & Dawes Final Rolls of the Five Civilized Tribes as well as other tribal enumerations (free site) http://www.ancestry.com - Provides access to numerous Census listings including the 1900 Federal Census listing all Indian Territory Native residents (subscription site) http://www.fold3.com - Formerly footnote.com, a digitization website with images of Native American documents including the Dawes Final Roll of the Five Tribes and Guion Miller (subscription site)

http://www.familysearch.org - Collection of free family history and genealogy look-ups, digitizing some state records (free site-requires user name and password for images) http://www.findagrave.com – Collection of over 88 million grave sites with some photos and volunteer submission based (free site) http://www.okhistory.org/res/ResDiv.html - Research Division of the Oklahoma Historical Society, collection includes marriage records, census listings, and 3,500,500 Indian Records (free site)

http://www.archives.gov/research/native-americans - US National Archives website for Native American records (free site)

CHEROKEE HERITAGE CENTER
Tahlequah, OK